

NEW HERE

You do not have to know how to begin.

Most people arrive with questions, uncertainty, or something in life asking for care. You are welcome to take one small step and decide the rest later.

Try Saturday meditation

Come once. Sit in a chair. Keep your camera off online. Say nothing. Leave whenever you need to.

All of that is okay.

OUR RECOMMENDATION

Begin with a drop-in.

You do not need to compare every program. Saturday Meditation & Dharma Talk is the simplest first visit for most people.

GOOD FIRST VISIT

Meditation & Dharma Talk

Guided meditation, a practical teaching, and optional conversation in a warm, grounded setting.

WHEN	Saturdays, 9:30–10:45 AM
WHERE	Brookfield + Zoom
COMMITMENT	Come once or return when helpful
COST	Offered through generosity

See details

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU ARRIVE

The ordinary details.

BEFORE

DURING

AFTER

Arrive a little early

There is parking at the center. Come through the main entrance and someone will help you settle in. Online, use the Zoom link in your member dashboard.

Sit, listen, and participate at your own pace

We usually begin with meditation, followed by a teaching and sometimes optional discussion. Chairs and cushions are available. You are never required to speak.

Leave quietly or stay for conversation

You may head out when the gathering ends, ask a question, or meet someone. No one will pressure you to join, donate, or return.

QUESTIONS PEOPLE OFTEN CARRY

You are allowed to be cautious.

RIM does not ask you to adopt a belief, present yourself in a particular way, or pretend that a practice is helping when it is not.

Do I have to be Buddhist?

No. RIM is honest about its Buddhist roots, while welcoming people with religious, spiritual, secular, uncertain, or changing perspectives.

What if I cannot sit on the floor? +

Most people use chairs. You may change position, stand, or step out. Practice should meet the reality of your body.

Will I be expected to talk? +

No. Conversation is optional. Listening quietly is a complete form of participation.

What does it cost? +

TAKE ONE SMALL STEP

You are welcome to come exactly as you are.

See what is happening this week

Rooted in Mindfulness

A welcoming Dharma community in Greater Milwaukee and online.

4040 N. Calhoun Rd.
Brookfield, WI 53005

EXPLORE

- New here
- Programs
- This week
- Teachings

COMMUNITY

- Life at RIM
- Join RIM
- Support RIM
- About

MEMBERS

- Sign in
- Dashboard preview
- Contact support